1. Qualitative Information on Quarterly Financial Results for the Period under Review

(1) Explanation of Operating Results

The Japanese economy during the six months ended September 30, 2020 deteriorated sharply against the backdrop of the spread of the novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) and the issuing of the state of emergency declaration. After the lifting of the declaration, signs of recovery have been seen mainly in individual consumption amid gradual resumption of economic activities. However, the pace of such recovery is expected to be slow for the time being, amid concerns over a resurgence of the spread of infections, the escalating U.S.-China conflict in the lead up to the U.S. presidential election, and downward risks for the global economy.

Under these circumstances, for the six months ended September 30, 2020 (from April 1, 2020 to September 30, 2020), the Group posted net sales of ¥23,408 million (down 8.9% year-on-year), operating profit of ¥2,609 million (down 26.9% year-on-year), ordinary profit of ¥2,822 million (down 22.2% year-on-year) and profit attributable to owners of parent of ¥1,924 million (down 24.1% year-on-year), all of which fell below the previous year's results.

Operating results by segment are as follows.

1) Chemicals operations

(Inorganic chemicals)

Sales of insoluble sulfur, a material for radial tires, remained sluggish both in Japan and abroad, affected by the global production adjustments for automobiles and tires amid the spread of COVID-19. However, sales are on a recovery track as production activities bottomed out in the first quarter and are returning to normal gradually. Sales of carbon disulfide for rayon and cellophane, and sodium sulfate for bath agents and detergents remained sluggish.

(Organic chemicals)

Regarding cyanuric acid derivatives for disinfectants, sales of agents for swimming pools were stagnant in the domestic market, affected by the cancellation of swimming lessons at schools due to the spread of COVID-19, while sales of agents for plumbing systems (sanitary devices) were strong with increased demand for disinfection and sterilization as a result of rising awareness of hygiene at home. Sales remained strong in the U.S. market with increased demand for agents for home swimming pools, supported by favorable weather conditions from spring and restrictions on outings.

(Fine chemicals)

Regarding Glicoat-SMD, a heat-resistant soluble OSP (Organic Solderability Preservative) for printed wiring boards, sales of products for use in PWBs for the automotive industry fell below the previous year's result, affected by the production adjustments for automobiles. Sales of advanced & specialty chemicals such as epoxy resin curing agent (imidazoles) were affected by deterioration in market conditions in products for automobile-related use, while sales grew in newly developed products.

As a result, net sales for the chemicals operations segment were ¥14,297 million (down 9.2% year-on-year), and segment profit was ¥2,131 million (down 27.9% year-on-year), both falling below the previous year's results.

2) Housing Materials operations

With the spread of COVID-19, there has been a strong sense of uncertainty over the prospects of domestic and foreign economies, causing a wait-and-see attitude to continue as seen in a growing trend of investments being deferred. Given the weakness in housing starts and capital investment, sales of interior, exterior finishes and paving materials and exterior products remained sluggish.

As a result, net sales for the housing materials operations segment were ¥8,711 million (down 9.2% year-on-year), and segment profit was ¥1,337 million (down 12.4% year-on-year), both falling below the previous year's results.
